Summary of Day's War News.

Russians admit reports of victories in Poland are exaggerated, but claim successes against Austrians in Carpathians and Turks in Caucasus.

German attacks in Belgium and France weaken and allies expect concentration for new Teuton attack in west.

Berlin war office reports overthrow of Premier U. P. Pachitch of Bulgaria.

Speech of King of Roumania to Parliament points to danger of nation becoming involved in war.

Germans deny report that Antwerp military governor said American relief work in unnecessary, and Berlin officials declare help from United States is much appreciated.

Austrians declare campaign against Serbia is progressing, but advance is slow because of bad weather.

Dutch government rejects offer of United States to help feed Belgian refugees.

Germans boast of efficiency of spy service, and declare systems of enemies are valueless.

Copenhagen, Nov. 30.—General Von Moltke, German chief of staff, is a prisoner in one of the Kaiser's palaces because he interfered with the strategy of the crown prince early in the war, according to reports received here from Berlin.

Petrograd.—The Russian advance has swept over Cracow, and 40,000 Austrians are prisoners of the Czar's troops, according to the Russian war office reports.

Amsterdam.—British airmen who have dropped bombs in Ghent say they have seen vast German reinforcements on their way to Ypres. Many Germans are in irons, leading to the belief of an extensive mutiny.

London.—While deprecating the exaggerated reports of Russian successes in the battle in northern Poland, where the German Emperor has joined Field Marshal Von Hindenburg to offer his advice and encourage his troops, the latest available official reports from Russian headquarters state that the advantage in the fighting still lies with the Russian arm.

It is also officially said that enormous losses have been inflicted on the Germans, but no mention is made of the capture of German divisions, which has been so freely claimed by the Petrograd correspondents of London and Paris papers.

Opposed to this is the German official report which says that the Russian attacks have been repulsed and that the German counter attacks have been successful.

A Rotterdam correspondent reports that the allies are taking the offensive south of Ypres, having discovered that the German line is weakening.

The Russians, likewise, announce success on the Austrian side of the Carpathians and against the Turks in the Caucasus, although in both regions the worst of weather has prevailed.

LOW TO MEDIATE COLORADO STRIKE

WITH CHAS. W. MILLS OF PHILADELPHIA AND PATRICK GILDAY OF CLEARFIELD, PA.

NAMED BY PRESIDENT

COMMISSION OFFERS SERVICES IN ANY DIFFERENCES BETWEEN OPERATORS AND MINERS.

Western Newspaper Union News Service.

Washington.—President Wilson has announced the appointment of Seth Low of New York, Charles W. Mills of Philadelphia and Patrick Gilday of Clearfield, Pennsylvania, as a commission through which future differences between operators and miners involved in the present Colorado coal strike may be settled.

The commission, officials explained, was not appointed to deal with the existing differences which have caused rioting and bloodshed in Colorado. Hywel Davies and W. R. Fairley, the conciliators who have been attempting to settle the strike, for several months, will continue in their efforts to have the operators and miners agree on a settlement of the present strike.

In a statement announcing the appointment of the commission the President expressed "the very earnest and sincere hope that the parties may see it not merely to their own best interest but also a duty which they owe to the communities they serve and to the nation itself to make use of this instrumentality of peace and render strikes of the kind which has threatened the order and prosperity of the great State of Colorado a thing of the past."

The appointment of such a commission was contemplated in the plan for temporary settlement of the strike, which the president proposed several months ago, and which was accepted by the miners but rejected by the operators.

One of the chief objections of the operators to the plan was the naming of the commission.

The President announced in his statement that the commission will place themselves "at the services alike of the miners and operators of Colorado, in case controversy between them should in the future develop circumstances which would render mediation the obvious way of peace and just settlement."

Wilson added that "merely to withdraw the federal troops and leave the situation to settle itself would seem to me to be doing something less than my duty, after all that has occurred."

He had been asked by Governor Ammons of Colorado to withdraw the troops from some of the districts and will discuss the question with Secretary Garrison of the War Department.

The original basis of agreement offered by the President included the establishment of a three years' truce subject to the enforcement of the mining and labor laws of Colorado, the return to work of miners who had not been convicted of law violations, the prohibition of intimidation of union or non-union men and the appointment of a grievance committee by the employes. It provided that in cases where the officers of the company and the grievance committee could not settle differences, a commission of three men, named by the President should step in and act as the final referee of all disputes.

THE change may be critical and cause untold suffering in after-life. The modern young woman is often a "bundle of nerves"—"high strung"—fainting spells—emotional—frequently blue and dissatisfied with life. Such girls should be helped over this distressing stage in life—by a woman's tonic and nerve—that has proven successful for over 40 years.
